What's new in Fury Of Dracula: Digital Edition Soundtrack:

- OTS on Steam Alice VR - Artbook - OTS on Steam Wow, somebody released the Alice VR Artbook and OTS on Steam. I believe I have the stats on hand that Alice VR sold out in less than 8 hours for the SoftVR copy. There is an OTS version of this game, and not one made publicly available. I have the game, and even have a few Video examples. But sadly i do not yet have the ots isos i need to use in a LinuxMCE 64bit system in a Windows 8.1 environment, so I will have to wait for a while before I showcase what a stellar piece of art Alice is. @inaka I'd like to know where this art book came from, the "online version" has a lot of info missing and the art/gameplay is a little..hmm..lacking when compared to the original. Info on the "full version" is hard to find. I looked for a trailer, got like 170k (?) and when I googled for "Alice artbook" I found showing it on the shelf. But then I ran out of options. This game is quite the slick continuation of the Alice saga. The only thing that's noticeably lacking is al the new VR enhancements that were supposed to be in this revision. It's sort of like there was only one game in Alice's Vr Universe, and we got two in the reboot. Overall this is still a pretty good VR game, provided you can find the Fine Art Book. SoftVR and Gekkyouka have it available for purchase in both BC and USD. Something that strikes me about this art book is that there is no built in tutorial system for the game. You have to figure this out yourself through trial and error. The game is technically a good game, just an average VR experience. So I think it would be interesting to see what they did to make the game more fun in VR...I'm thinking something like Oculus Rift DK2 or Vive. @inaka I agree... it's one thing to have a no-tutorial, but I would also like the option to use it. I don't know what I would do if I couldn't find the book

Q: How to modify the default WebBrowser Control in WinForms In a WinForms application I want to change the default WebBrowser control to behave like a Chrome Browser. I am currently using the following code to enable JS when my forms opens. private void Form1_Load(object sender, EventArgs e) { // Enable JavaScript this.webBrowser.ObjectForScripting = this; } But this doesn't enable the default "under buttons, about,... " link functionality. Do I need to create a new WebBrowser control and swap out the WebBrowser Control or is there any other way to do this? A: Since the webbrowser control was created in C# (not Visual Basic), you can't simply change the properties. Instead, create a new webbrowser control and change some of its properties. Dinner Set or Bake Offerings by Jacob Messina What is better than white platters? Well, of course, it depends on your personality or what food you choose, but there are some
